MARRIED LIFE ON $80 A MONTH

John Suter finds another leak and decides to stop it up although Molly Suter protests.

"John, I am afraid I will have to get little Jack a pair of shoes this week," said Molly Suter, in an apologetic tone. "His feet are almost on the ground."

"Another pair? It isn't more than two weeks since I got the last ones. You must remember that I am getting five dollars a week less for ten weeks now, until Benson's fifty dollars is paid up." John had seemed more than usually irritated for the last few days and Molly would not have mentioned the shoes, but she was afraid the child would take cold with his feet half on the ground.

The question of asking for money under such trying circumstances was almost more than she could bear.

"For heaven's sake, John," she exclaimed, flushing angrily, "I would rather do without everything myself than ask for it, but I cannot see the boy suffer and keep silent. I will take some money out of the household allowance, if you say so, only that means less to spend on food this week." As John did not reply, she added resentfully, "Perhaps you think I wore the shoes out myself very carelessly."

"Now don't get touchy. I've enough to stand without your beginning that again. Besides, I do think you could watch Jack a little and keep him from wearing his shoes out quite so fast."

"All mothers say that the shoe bill is the biggest item in clothing a child," replied Molly. "What can you expect from an active child? He's worn them from the first month."

"Ah, I guess I know better," interrupted John. "I can prove it by the bill." Molly rose and vanished into the bedroom, and soon reappeared waving it triumphantly. "It was three weeks last Tuesday."

John took the bit of paper in his hand. "It is a little better than I thought," he admitted reluctantly. "I'll take him down after I get home tonight and see if I can't find a shoe that will wear a little longer than the ones you select."

"Let me get them, John. He can't wear heavy shoes. They will hurt his feet," Molly looked appealingly at her husband.

"There you go. He is a poor man's son and may as well begin to realize the fact. The children of the poor can't wear soft hand-sewed shoes that wear out every three or four weeks. That has been one of our leaks and it has got to be stopped along with the rest. I thought you were anxious to save. That is what you have been talking all so far."

"I am anxious to save," blurted out Molly, "but I can't bear to have Jack's dear little feet made sore and perhaps start trouble that may be hard to get rid of by putting clumsy, hard shoes on him. We will save some other way, John."

"We have got to save some other way and that way, too," John's tone was harsh and the boy had a scared look on his face, and sidled off of his chair and took refuge under his mother's arm with his head in her lap. "It is just one of your foolish notions. Jack is getting to be a big boy and can wear big boy's shoes. Can't you, dear?" John could not stand it to have the boy afraid of him.

"Come and see daddy and he will tell you about the fine pair of big boy's shoes that we are going to get tonight when daddy comes home." He shoved back from the table and held out his arms and the boy ran into them.

Molly saw that it was useless to say anything. One of the ways in which her self-discipline was showing was in her ability to leave a disagreeable subject before a violent row was precipitated.

"Well, we do need to save; trying this will do no harm," she thought and, sighing, shoved back her chair and began to clear the dinner table.

HANDBAGS FOR CHRISTMAS.

Never before were handbags so interesting. Whether or not we like the frocks and coats and suits of the season, we must like the bags.

Leather always predominates among bag fabrics; this year, as ever before, there are more leather bags than any other kind. There are many gathered and pleated bags—with the leather folded and gathered into the metal frame. Black is perhaps more used than any other color; but all shades of brown are also highly favored, and so is blue.

Some of the frames are irregularly shaped—higher on the one side than on the other. Some are crescent shaped. Some are incurved at each end and come to a high point in the center.

An unusually smart bag is of tan pin silk, lined with red and yellow silk, the red stripes figured in yellow, the yellow ones in red.

There are some very long, narrow bags—not more than three inches wide and six or eight long. Although they are not very commodious in size nor convenient in shape, they are decidedly pretty.

It is quite possible to make up a bag in the silk you like, for the metal and enamel gate tops and the tortoise shell tops can all be bought for small prices.

CHICKEN AND CORN SALAD.

Beat the yolks of three eggs, add two cups of grated corn, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper and one cupful of milk. Cook in the upper part of the double boiler until it is well thickened and the corn tender. Then add one tablespoonful of gelatin that has been softened in a little cold water. Take from the fire, stir in one cupful of chopped cooked chicken and two tablespoonfuls of minced green peppers. Mix thoroughly and stir until it begins to thicken.

Pour into a mold that has been rinsed with cold water and set in a cold place to harden. Serve, cut in slices, on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing. Cooked corn may also be used for this salad.

GERMAN POST DESTROYED BY THE ALLIES

Paris, Nov. 18, 10:30 p. m.—The following official communication was issued tonight:

"Our artillery concentrated a very effective bombardment on the enemy organization to the south of the Somme, in the sector of Anichey, Le Echelle, Saint Aurin and Cessier. A German post was entirely destroyed and the opposing batteries were silenced."

"To the east of the Argonne the work of our miners has again given very good results. In the region of Vauquois and the Mailcourt wood an enemy mine was destroyed by one of our mines. A camouflaged (small mine) shattered subterranean works in which the Germans were working."

"The Belgian official communication reads: 'There has been an intermittent cannonade before our front. Our batteries dispersed enemy pioneers near the Union bridge, the Grootte farm, Tervaele, Themme and the ferryman's house.'

"Army of the east: No event of importance occurred on Cerna, nor on the Vardar on November 17. In the direction of Kostur, to the north of Rabbrovo, the Bulgarians attacked on November 16 and 17. All our positions have been maintained."

ANOTHER ANTHRAX VICTIM.

New York, Nov. 18.—Miss Sophia Rosen, 17 years old, the third anthrax victim in this city within the last few months, died here today. The girl is believed to have contracted the disease, which is common among animals, by wearing a fur neckpiece, the skin of which had not been properly treated.

COUNT HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Rome, Nov. 19, via Paris, 4:52 a. m.—Count Pecco, a nephew of Pope Benedict, had a narrow escape during the recent raid by Austrian aeroplanes on Brescia. One of the missiles dropped by the aviators fell within a few yards of where the count was standing.

GERMAN BUYERS ARE BLACKLISTED

Man Reputed to Be Commissioned to Purchase Wedding Gowns for Mrs. Galt Turned Down.

IS AMERICAN CITIZEN

Paris Syndicate Will Send Them Direct to Washington With Their Compliments.

Paris, Nov. 19, 10 a. m.—The Paris Dressmakers' Syndicate has blacklisted two American customers of German origin, one of them a man named Charles Kurzmann, reputed to have been commissioned to buy gowns for Mrs. Norman Galt, who is to be the bride of President Wilson, according to Gustav Terry's newspaper L'Ouvre.

The newspaper avers Kurzmann has threatened to raise a diplomatic question because of the modiste's refusal to accept orders from him. L'Ouvre declares, however, that each house from which he ordered gowns, has offered to supply them with its compliments to Mrs. Galt without having them pass through the hands of an intermediary.

A Paris dispatch early this month said Charles Kurzmann of New York was there to select gowns for the wedding of President Wilson and Mrs. Galt. He was quoted as saying "while it would be indiscreet to talk about clothes ordered by the Wilson family before obtaining permission from the White House, he felt that Washington can look forward to a brilliant social season after the wedding."

Paul Pointet, president of the dressmakers' syndicate, is absent from Paris. His confidential secretary, however, confirmed the statement that Kurzmann has threatened to raise a diplomatic question over the delineation of the modiste's to fill his order for gowns which he maintains are intended for Mrs. Galt.

"You may declare that no members of our syndicate will deliver gowns or through Kurzmann, or any other German house," said the secretary. "At the same time each or every member of the syndicate would be proud to be honored with a commission to make a gown for President Wilson's fiancée and would be most happy to present it with its compliments."

Rue de la Paix and other leading houses refuse to state whether or not they have had orders for gowns.

SAYS WOMEN ARE CRAZY ABOUT IT

Tells women how to dry clean everything with gasoline and save $5.

Dry cleaning at home is all the rage here, says a well-known downtown druggist. "Any woman can do five dollars' worth of dry cleaning at home at very little cost by dissolving two ounces of solvite in two gallons of gasoline; then immerse the articles to be cleaned; rub a little and in a few moments the gasoline evaporates and the articles cleaned look as bright and fresh as new."

Dry clean your own silk waists, dresses, ribbons, belts, kid gloves, satin shoes, evening dresses, children's coats, furs, velvets, neckties, shawls, gentlemen's garments, fancy vests, lace curtains, rugs, in fact, everything that would be ruined by washing with soap and water. Nothing will fade, shrink or wrinkle, making pressing unnecessary.

Dry cleaning at home is inexpensive and effects a tremendous saving in the household and is really just as easy as laundering. Any druggist will sell two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap and your grocer or a garage will supply the gasoline. Then a wash boiler or dishpan completes the outfit.

"As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open."

TRENCHES LOST BY THE TURKS

London, Nov. 18, 6:14 p. m.—The British army at the Dardanelles has resumed the offensive and captured 230 yards of Turkish trenches.

Official announcement was made that the Fifty-second division had successfully attacked the Turks in the Krithi-Nullah, near the tip of the peninsula.

The text of the statement follows: "The Dardanelles the Fifty-second division carried out a very successful attack on the Turkish trenches on the 15th instant, for which careful preparations had been in progress for a considerable time."

"Three mines were exploded successfully under the enemy's trenches in the neighborhood of the Krithi-Nullah at 3 p. m., and the infantry, pushing forward immediately afterward, captured about 150 yards of trenches on the east of the Nullah and 120 yards on its west."

"The captured trenches were at once consolidated and bombing parties pushed on up to the communication trenches and erected barricades."

"Simultaneously with the assault our artillery opened on the enemy's reserve support trenches, two 14-inch mortars and H. M. S. Edgar (cruiser) co-operating, and maintained their fire until the next day, to his surprise, Mr. Gaylord received the Lincoln figure from Senator Konli with a polite note requesting its ac-damage. The Turks in the neighboring trenches, who fired heavily, were caught by machine gun and rifle fire, and suffered considerably, their fire becoming very wild.

"No attempt at a counter attack was made until the night of November 16-17, when it was easily repulsed. Our casualties were under fifty killed and wounded. Over seventy dead were seen in the captured position, and a wounded prisoner reports that over thirty were buried by the explosion of one mine."

"The units employed were portions of the Fourth and Seventh Royal Scots, the Seventh and Eighth Scottish rifles and the Ayrshire yeomanry, all of the One Hundred and Fifty-sixth brigade."

Lincoln Loved BY THE RUSSIANS

Petrograd, Nov. 19.—A full-length statue of Lincoln, with an interesting history, has been presented to the Rev. Franklin Gaylord, head of the Russian Young Men's Christian association's work.

The story of the statue is this: Among Mr. Gaylord's callers the other day was Senator Anatole Fedorovich Konli, a member of the Imperial Council, as well as the senate, who is justly celebrating the 50th anniversary of his public service. He is a staunch friend of the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Gaylord was one of those asked to speak at the celebration of his anniversary. It seems that the conversation between the two men turned on Lincoln, and the next day, to his surprise, Mr. Gaylord received the Lincoln figure from Senator Konli with a polite note requesting its acceptance as a token of friendship. As a student in 1865, Senator Konli bought the statue and had given it a place of honor in his home for 50 years. During the senator's student days, Lincoln was immensely popular with the progressive youth of Russia, because Lincoln had followed the Emperor Alexander II as an emancipator. Many of these statues, which were well executed in hard, polished plaster, three-quarter size, were sold among Russian students, and doubtless here and there in the homes of some of the old families in Russia, similar evidence of tribute to Lincoln may be found.

U. S. A. SQUADRON ON SIX-DAY TRIP

Fort Sill, Okla., Nov. 19.—The first aero squadron, U. S. A., composed of six aeroplanes, sailed from the aviation field here this morning on a flight to the new headquarters of the organization at San Antonio. Fifteen minutes after the first machine carried Captain B. D. Foulou, commander, was in the air, the entire squadron was on its way southward.

The flight is the first of its kind attempted by army aviators and is being made under conditions as nearly like those encountered in war times as is possible. The aviators will fly close together and it is planned to complete the journey in six days.

MAY SUSPEND SHIP SERVICE TEMPORARILY

London, Nov. 18, 5:35 p. m.—The correspondent at Zurich of the Central News forwards a report that it has been decided to suspend steamship service between Italy and America until arrangements are made to deal adequately with the menace of submarines to shipping in the Mediterranean.

New York, Nov. 18.—Sailings of all vessels of the Italian and allied lines from New York for foreign ports have been canceled until further notice.

This was announced today by Hartfield, Solari & Co., agents of the Italian line. The sinking of the Ancona, which belonged to the Italian line, and the submarine menace to other ships are believed to have caused the cancellation of the sailings.

SEVEN YOUNG MEN ARE HELD.

Pocatello, Idaho, Nov. 18.—The seven young men who last week entered the tent of J. R. Rockefeller at Portneuf siding and took away a supply of food, cooking utensils and clothing were yesterday bound over to the district court by Justice of the Peace

Knowles. Frank Norris and Ted Jones waived examination, while William Holman, John McCoy, Roy Watson, Ted Warner and John Dewey pleaded not guilty. Rockefeller found the men eating with his utensils.

PRISONERS WANT DAILY MAIL.

Brigham City, Nov. 18.—The county commissioners have received a letter from prisoners in the county jail concerning the delivery of mail to that institution. The men desire a daily delivery. The document was referred to Sheriff John H. Zundel.

TURKEY GOING UP.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—It was said by commission men today that Thanksgiving turkey will retail at 27 to 28 cents a pound this season, or about 15 per cent higher than last year. The heavy rains which marked the spring and summer are said to lie at the bottom of the advance.

Don't Poison Baby.

Forty years ago almost every mother thought her child must have sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum or morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death."
